DECISION MAKERS

Amy Corbin

Corbin

New position: vice president and controller, Genworth Financial Inc.

Previous position: global leader of accounting policy, Genworth

Birthplace: Orlando, Fla.

Education: bachelor's degree in accounting and master's degree in taxation, University of South Florida

Career: audit senior manager, Deloitte & Touche, Chicago; au-dit manager, Deloitte & Touche, Tampa, Fla.

Best career move: "Leaving pub-lic accounting to work on Gen-eral Electric's initial public offer-ing of Genworth."

The most difficult situation faced on the job: "When I was in public accounting I discovered fraud at a client. The regulator justifiably shut the company down but a lot of good people not involved in the fraud lost their jobs."

Career tip for students: "Don't avoid something because you think it is too hard or compli-cated. Break it down into man-ageable steps or pieces and tackle one at a time. Before you know it, you'll be done with it and on to something new."

What motivates her? "Change/complexity — ever since I started my career, I have had this aversion to things that stay the same and a fear of getting bored. That probably sounds strange coming from someone who has only worked for two companies their entire career but what I have found is that even in the same company you can find project work that brings complexity to the everyday tasks."

Family: husband, Craig; daugh-ters: Christina, Rachel, Jessica; and son, Chase

Favorite food or restaurant: "Anything I didn't cook."
